

Wake Up Pray Up Boss Up® Podcast

Episode 55: Built to Last: Putting God Back at the Center

So much of what feels unstable, fragile, or exhausting in life isn't because we're doing everything wrong, it's because we're trying to build without God fully at the center.

When God is at the center, everything else finds its place. When He's pushed to the edges, even good things begin to crumble.

Click 1 – Wake Up: See Where God Has Been Pushed Aside

Awareness is the starting point of realignment. Not shame. Not guilt. Just clarity.

Sometimes we don't remove God completely; we simply move Him to the margins. We pray after decisions instead of before them. We stay quiet about our faith to stay comfortable. We honor God privately but hesitate to do so publicly.

Reflection

- Where in my life has God become convenient instead of central?
- Where have I stayed silent when my faith should have guided my choices?
- Where have I chosen comfort, approval, or ease over conviction?

Action

This week, notice moments where you instinctively rely on yourself before seeking God. Awareness alone begins the shift.

Click 2 – Pray Up: Recenter Your Life on God

Alignment happens through surrender.

Pray Up is about intentionally placing God back where He belongs at the center of your decisions, your words, and your actions.

Reflection

- Where might God be inviting me to stop apologizing for my faith?
- Where is He calling me to lead by example?
- What area of my life needs to be surrendered again?

When God is centered, confusion quiets and priorities realign.

Click 3 – Boss Up: Live Your Faith Out Loud

Bossing up doesn't mean being loud or forceful.

It means being steady, visible, and unapologetically aligned.

Living your faith out loud doesn't require preaching — it requires consistency.

Examples of Action

- Praying openly without hesitation
- Letting your values guide decisions, even when it's inconvenient
- Speaking God's name with confidence, not fear

Challenge

Choose one way this week to live your faith visibly, through action, posture, or decision and do it with peace, not performance.

Ready to stop building on the edges and start building from the center?

The Wake Up Pray Up Boss Up® Coaching Membership is for women who are done living divided, faith in one box, life in another and are ready to build everything on God as the foundation.

Inside the membership, you'll be supported to:

- live your faith with clarity and confidence
- align your daily rhythms with what truly matters
- make decisions from conviction, not pressure
- grow spiritually, mentally, and physically, together

This isn't about being louder. It's about being rooted, aligned, and unshakable.

Join the waitlist at margiruiz.com/waitlist and surround yourself with women who are building lives that last, from the inside out.

